MINING NEWS

THREE-MILE TUNNEL TO OPEN MINES

Competent engineers declare that the three-mile tunnel to penetrate the mountain between Greenwood and Phoenix, B. C., upon which the preliminary work under way, will provide practical means of extracting ores at great depth from numerous properties, and they predict also that it will open possibilities to merit the attention of the mining world.

The bore is projected by the Greenwood-Phoenix Tramway company of Chicago, to which the taxpayers of Greenwood have just voted a bonus of $50,000, to be paid in three installments, as follows: $15,000 at 3,000 feet, $15,000 at 6,000 feet and $20,000 when the city limits of Phoenix are reached. The first section is to be completed November 1, 1911. New York and Chicago parties have underwritten bonds to the extent of $3,000,000, which is the amount required to construct and equip the tunnel. Compressors and electric drills are being installed at the Greenwood end of the tunnel and it is given out that construction work will begin in a short time. As the undertaking does not involve any unusual engineering difficulties, it is believed that rapid progress will be made from the start. The tunnel will be large enough to carry 10,000 tons of ore daily, and beyond the first section it will carry ore on a tonnage and freight basis. It will also be a tramway for the carrying of ores from the various mines contiguous to the route of the bore.

Considerable work has already been done on the mineralized zone which will be crossed by the tunnel and while this has been expensive the value of the ore is estimated at more than $900,000. This gives an indication of what may be expected when the belt is bored in a systematic manner. The exploring at the Greenwood and Phoenix camps to the depth of more than 2,000 feet will start deep mining in the boundary district, and the result will be the operation of properties with showings of gold and silver now overshadowed by low grade copper ore taking.

The company considers itself fortunate in the selection of a site to start the tunnel. The Strathmore mine, where the portal of the tunnel will be, has the record of producing the richest and finest ores in British Columbia. It won the trophy cup at the annual exhibit at Spokane, in competition with the high-grade gold and silver mines of Idaho, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

The tunnel will reach No. 1 vein of the Strathmore mine, from which rich ore has been shipped, in 800 feet, and will crosscut 17 other veins in the first section of the bore, which is 6,000 feet. These veins have been proven at depths ranging from 100 to 600 feet. Eight thousand tons of ore, averaging better than $100 a ton, have been shipped from this belt, but the operation was expensive, the mining costing $40 a ton, while the smelting and freight charges averaged $15 a ton.

Announcement is made that the tunnel company can easily reduce the cost of mining to $10 a ton by the consolidation of the properties and the deep tunnel, while the freight and smelter charges will be not more than $7 or $8 a ton. It is believed also there will be sufficient ore to warrant the installation of a lead smelter at Greenwood, which would receive a great deal of custom ore and stimulate the development of gold and silver mining all over the Boundary country.

The only deep mining in the province of British Columbia is at Rossland. The Le Roi Two, originally known as the Josie, after being developed 300 feet was pronounced a failure, the lead having pinched out, yet after being taken over by practical men backed by capital it has proved a bonanza, earning enormous dividends. At the War Eagle in the same camp, which was declared to have been worked out, an ore shoot 40 feet wide and 500 feet in length, averaging $35 the ton, was opened up on the 1,500 foot level a few days ago. This would indicate that deep mining in British Columbia pays. The ore runs down similarly to that in the Coeur d'Alenes. It increases in size or in value or both with depth.

Graham R. Dennis, a capitalist of Spokane, and owner of the Old Dominion mine in eastern Washington, now being worked under lease, was the first to discover that the ore bodies in the Boundary district, the Coeur d'Alenes and eastern Washington camps were deep mining propositions. He made the announcement years ago, when the ore apparently pinched out in the levels on the Dominion property. His prediction has been verified in Republic camp in Washington, as well as in several camps in the Coeur d'Alenes and the opening of the mineral zone in southeastern British Columbia with a tunnel at a depth of 1,300 feet will, it is generally believed, fully confirm his theory so far as that part of the ore belt is concerned.

CRIPPLE CREEK MEN AT AUSTIN.

Take Hand in Reviving Old Mines of Famous Nevada Silver Camp.

The famous old silver camp of Austin, Nevada, is being revived in fitting style, and many of the men who won riches in the Cripple Creek country are on the ground to bring riches from ground here. Relative to the conditions of the camp, L. Haworth has the following to say: "New factors are being added to the working forces that are pulling Austin out of the inactive class with all certainty that this noted producing camp will early resume a regular output of bullion. The guarantee of a long period of prosperity for this place lies in the thousands of tons of ore on the dumps and in 25 miles of underground workings, which was too low a grade to be handled at a profit, with the system of reduction in vogue when the mines were operated in the past. With mill costs reduced to the minimum of the present day, these ores assure immense profits. This is to say nothing of the virgin ground of which there is vast acreage, and nothing of the unmeasured possibilities of the Austin high-grade fissures, when mined to the deep. The average depth of the workings which have a record of many millions is less than 500 feet. The Austin Manhattan company is rushing preparations to sink a central shaft to the 1,100-foot level. The Nevada Equities company is one of the new factors in the rejuvenation of Austin. This company has an estate of more than 200 acres. The management is in the hands of men who carved out fortunes in Cripple Creek. They are men who in the Colorado camp have led all others in making a profit from ores of the lowest grade. The general manager of this company after a survey of the underground workings, asserts that there is $500,000 net profit in the ores in sight. This is wealth that could not be saved when the property was last operated. In the not distant future development work will be commenced on this acreage. A tunnel will be run from Slough direction, crosscutting the vein system of the district, and at a distance of about 3,000 feet, forming a junction with the Moss shaft. This will give ready access to these milling ore reserves above alluded to.

This company now favors the installation of a concentrating plant which will follow the practice of the Mexican and Australian systems for the reduction of ores similar in character to that of Austin. The United States Smelting & Mining company, after two years of experimentation at Pachuca, Mexico, has perfected this system to a point making possible a saving of 95 per cent of the values, with 70 per cent of the straight concentration and the remainder saved from the slimes. In Mexico nine-ounce ore is made to yield a profit. This ore is identical with that of Austin.

The Austin Nevada Consolidated is another company, headed also by a Cripple Creek operator, H. G. Richardson, which has acquired an important Austin acreage and will develop the same at once. It includes a tract of 160 acres through which runs such famous producing veins as the Panamint, the Independence and the North Star. These great leads are paralleled by some ten or a dozen smaller veins, all of which have been opened up showing similar values to those found in all the workings on Lander Hill. Nevada Consolidated has in its favor the fact that its acreage is all virgin ground that has been proved up by the workings on adjacent territory and the further fact that the percentage of gold greatly increases on the southeasterly trend of all these veins. The northwesterly end line of this property is within 400 feet of the Frost and the Lander Hill tunnel, which effectively drains the entire acreage.

TRACK MEN ARRANGE TO TRANSFER

Operations to England, Cable Communications are Already Established

New York, April 20.—As an outcome of the restrictions imposed upon betting in this city by the Hart-Agnew bill, several of the most prominent track men of this city have arranged to transfer their operations to England. A number have established cable communications with betting commissioners in London and already wagers said to be in excess of $100,000 have been placed.

ASSOCIATED PRESS ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS

New York, April 20.—At the annual meeting of the Associated Press here today the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, a committee of congress, of which J. R. Mann of Illinois is chairman, has spent nearly a year painstakingly investigating the question of the news print paper supply, and has reported unanimously to congress in favor of abolishing all tariff on ground wood and reducing the tax on news print paper, from six dollars to two dollars per ton, and, whereas, the same report was unanimously accepted by the ways and means committee of the house of representatives and duly passed as part of the new tariff bill now pending in the United States senate, the members of the Associated Press, at their annual meeting hereby Resolve, that we respectfully request the members of the senate of the United States to carefully read the report of the select committee with the view of convincing themselves of the justice of its recommendations to the end that a permanent supply of news print paper be secured to the printing and publishing industry, which is the seventh greatest in the United States.

"We further ask the members of the senate to consider this not a partisan move, but represents the unanimous view of both sides in the select committee and the ways and means committee, and is the result of careful and deliberate judgment exercised only after a thorough inquiry. The newspapers believe they are entitled to have the conclusions of this committee written in the law.

"Resolved, that a copy of the above be transmitted immediately to every United States senator."

JOHN MITCHELL TALKS BEFORE YALE DIVINITY SCHOOL

New Haven, Conn., April 20.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, spoke today before the Yale Divinity school.

"There are," he said, "six ends which trades unions are striving to attain; a wage suitable to the American standard of living; the eight-hour day; child labor laws; employer liability; improved working conditions, and the preservation of the constitutional guarantee of free speech, free press, and trial by jury and it is to attain these, all other methods failing, that a resort is made to strikes and boycotts. There is more in a strike than wages or hours of labor and a strike may be a loss from a money point of view and a great gain in a higher and nobler sense."

COUNT AND MISS WHITE TO WED

Difficulties Over Differences in Faith Are at Last Surmounted

Paris, April 20.—The arrangements for the wedding of Count Hermann Scherer-Thoss and Miss Muriel White, daughter of Ambassador White, which was delayed by certain difficulties arising through differences in the faith of the contracting parties, are now completed.

The civil ceremony, which alone constitutes a legal marriage in France, will be performed April 25 by the Mayor of the Eighth Arrondissement in which the ambassador resides. The following day, the religious marriage will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church, one of the most exclusive Catholic churches in Paris.

As Miss White retains her protestant faith, her family greatly desired that both Protestant and Catholic religious services should follow the civil marriage and the groom-elect and family were in full sympathy with this. Cardinal Kopp, Bishop of Breslau, the diocese in which the couple will live, declined, however, to grant a dispensation for the marriage except on condition that the groom refrain from attending any other religious ceremony and with the usual restrictions concerning the faith of any issue of the marriage.

Influences were brought to bear in an endeavor to induce Cardinal Kopp to concede the services of the Episcopal church, but these failed. As the cardinal remained obdurate, however, Ambassador White finally acquiesced, but as a protest against the attitude of the authorities he decided to abstain from attending the Catholic ceremony.

With regard to his decision he says: "Both the public and my private life demonstrates my freedom from religious bias, but under the circumstances and as the representative of the country eminent for its religious tolerance, although predominately protestant, I have decided not to attend the services at St. Joseph's the more so as there are several recent precedents for a Catholic ceremony and one of another denomination."

RACING ACROSS THE CONTINENT WITH DEATH

SIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL CARRIES MESSAGE TO DYING FATHER.

Mother Collapses When Learning of Husband's Condition, and Sends Daughter With Message.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 21.—According to a dispatch received by the Times from Chicago, a message, probably a final one, is on its way from Chicago to the Pacific coast in charge of a six-year-old girl. It is a message from a mother who is ill in New York to a father believed to be dying in Los Angeles.

The little tot who is bearing it is Margaret Bidwell, daughter of A. G. Bidwell, a former Chicago man.

Mother and daughter, who had just returned from an European tour, received a telegram in New York, stating that Mr. Bidwell was not expected to live.

Mrs. Bidwell became suddenly ill on receipt of the news, and could not travel. Dictating a message to her husband, she sent her little daughter west with it. In her race with death the railroad officials say she is making a record-breaking trip for a girl of her age. She is due to arrive here Saturday morning.
